

Owingsville Outlook.

D. S. ESTILL, Publisher.
OWINGSVILLE, KENTUCKY.

Paradoxical as it seems, but times may be expected when the new artillery shell charged with frozen dynamite comes into use in the next war.

According to the deductions of a well-known astronomer, we receive as much light from the sun as could be emitted by 650,000 full moons. And yet we are not happy.

A seeping baby shower in New York was declared by Judge Andrews to be illegal, and he further declared that officials had the right to interfere and prevent such exhibitions.

The greatest living authority on human statistics calculates that from 50,000,000 to 100,000,000 people annually die of the sensation of hunger.

I do not know the feeling of a fall except in the winter season.

A Mexican savant claims to have discovered an error on the part of the inhabitants of America in assuming that this planet by geometrical figures. If they will begin by squaring the circle their superiority will be cheerfully conceded.

The funny man of the Philadelphia Times says "Key wrote the 'Star-Spangled Banner' on the head of a barrel, covering the nation with stars, and its stars as it does." Now let every body climb in the churning and hop it up generally.

Dr. Nansen says anybody possessing the necessary endurance, knowledge and confidence can easily reach the pole. Those who have a map of the route and the ability to live without food or shelter should start at once to clear up that little mystery.

A neat definition of the "new woman" was given not long since in response to a prize offered by an English newspaper. She was described as "a fresh dawn on the original blue stocking." The definition was thought to be so appropriate that the prize was at once given to the author.

The Chinese sailor rice and provide choice cuts of roast pig, and a glass of their drink. The Indian will bring the pony of the dead and leaves his bus and arrow at the grave for handy use of the departed. But the Kentuckian who asked to swim in Bourbon whisky while in his coffin took them all.

A ripple of amusement ran over the country in noting the fact that several elegant spinners took an active part in "the games of wicket" recently in session at Washington. But that was all right. A wrong of bright white and old maid knows more in a minute than the same number of old bachelors would know all day.

The leading members, known as "the royal academicians" in England, recently refused to elect a woman artist to membership. There were four candidates. In art, but they were not in the membership in the academy.

A novel wedding took place in Missouri the other day. Mr. and Mrs. William Irving were pronounced man and wife the latter was made to promise at the altar that she would not wear bloomers and ride a bicycle. The former was made to promise not to go out late to lodge. The couple explained the peculiar ceremony by saying they expected to live long while and wanted to guard against the tendency of the times.

One of the lions of a little New Jersey town is an old man who has recently completed his sixtieth year. He is a member among the few who were born in a perfect storehouse of meteorological information, the exact dates of all the big snowstorms and the cold spells being at his finger ends, ready for use at a moment's notice. Contrary to the custom of most nonagenarians, this old man has used tobacco for three-quarters of a century and has drank strong coffee since he was six years old.

The Herrodorf torpedo boat No. 6 is entitled to the distinction of being the naval vessel of the world. It is a 12-mile speed last week, five runs over a 12-mile course, the little vessel made an average of 28 1/2 knots, which would have been increased to 29 but for a slight derangement of its machinery. Fast as it is, the two torpedo boats now building by the Bath Iron Works and Union Iron Works are guaranteed to make 30 knots. Evidently the naval race is on its feet.

The tongue is a little member, but is full of deadly poison. It is true of the plain, everyday tongue, how much more of pickled tongue? The young women students at Chicago university revolted against the pickled tongue. The girls say that after eating the tongue they have been ill with symptoms of poisoning. The housekeeper says that the girls have been eating too much molasses candy. Certainly the girls' tongues are not yet in pickle. But candy or pickles, it should not require a university course to teach that the average girl does not need much additional sweetness or tongue.

The crumbling of trusts is a renewed proof of the natural law that no dynasty, in politics or business, is safe from the struggle of competition. The larger the field of operations the more certain it is that some opponent will arise to restrict the excesses of greed and prevent the actions of a monopoly. The yellow glass trust is the latest that is being broken up. The breaking of the steel rail trust, the smashing of the window glass combination and the fall of the lead aggregation, even if sugar remains undissolved and rubber unstretched, will revive the old proverb: "No trust, no hurt."

A dispatch says that the village of Port Richmond, Staten Island, has been seized by the sheriff of the county for debt. Villages have been known to suffer many varieties of affliction, but it is seldom one becomes so prodiginate as to fall into the hands of a sheriff. What the sheriff will do with this unfortunate village, now that he has got it, is not stated, nor is its fate in itself a matter of serious import. The real significance of the episode at this time rests chiefly in the revelation that the seizure of a village is within the reasonable limits of a sheriff's ambition, and that it is not inconceivable that any man may like it.

LAST SUNDAY

At His Church in Canton Before Going to Washington.

The Pastor Asks the Divine Blessing on the Departing and Incoming President—All the Members of the Church Present.

CANTON, O., March 1. Maj. McKinley's last Sunday at his home in Canton before starting out for Washington, was a day of unusual interest and importance. The church was packed with members and friends. The pastor, Rev. J. W. R. Smith, asked the divine blessing on the departing and incoming president. The church was packed with members and friends. ## During March

Cold and chills are prevalent, and unless the system is strong enough to throw them off, serious illness, often ending in pneumonia and death results.

The Cause of colds, chills and fever is found in the blood, produced by the kidneys.

The Effect of this kidney-poisoned blood is far-reaching. Health and strength are impossible while it exists. The system is being continually weakened, leaving it open to the ravages of colds, chills, pneumonia and fever.

The Cure for such a diseased condition is found in the blood. The blood is the life of the body, and it is the duty of the kidneys to keep it pure and strong.

The OWINGSVILLE OUTLOOK and either of the following will be sent for one year for the price named: OUTLOOK and Twice-a-week Louisville Courier-Journal, $1.50. OUTLOOK and Weekly Cincinnati Commercial Tribune, $1.40.

The Cuban war has trained a large number of experts in the gentle art of lying.

Without doubt, there is one American who wouldn't trade jobs now with McKinley, and that man is Grover Cleveland.

PRESIDENT CLEVELAND has pleased us better than we could have told him how to do it. We don't know any higher praise.

NEARLY fifty millions over a billion in the expenditure record of the Congress just past. To spend the most in hard times is hardly praiseworthy economy.

Gov. BRADLEY has written his call for the extra session of the General Assembly, leaving the date blank. He specifies between thirty and forty subjects for legislation.

The old story of Weyler's resignation is going the rounds again. It probably means he is resigned to the honors and emoluments of the command of the Spanish forces in Cuba.

The U. S. Senate played to the galleries last Thursday, and the sentiment of the gallery gods was enthusiastically for war with Spain. Of course the galleries were right out and pay for such a frolic.

The Great Powers are rather marking time on the Cretan question. They would agree to let Greece take Crete if they could decide as to the apportionment of the balance of the Turkish Empire.

The Republican Evans contingent of Tennessee were so sore over the turning down of H. Clay Evans for a Cabinet position that they would not go to the inauguration. A feud between the Evans and Brownlow factions is promised.

The football players, the expert tumbler fighters and the pickpockets among the participants will enjoy the McKinley inaugural ball. The officers will simply endure it because it is the thing of the hour.

Some Congressmen introduced a bill into the House prohibiting newspapers from publishing detailed reports of pugilistic fights, pictures of such fights, etc. It belongs to the broad class of legislation with which the country is afflicted now.

CONGRESSMAN GROSVENOR, of Ohio, delighted the Webster Flanagans of the House and galleries last week by a vigorous assault on the Civil Service laws and policies. It is a mystery to a great many politicians that there should be anything else than spoils in politics.

SENATOR DUMAS, of Idaho, warned the Republican side of the Senate that the Republican party as a party has written its last law on the statute books; that if they get a new protective tariff law through it will not be by Republican votes, for they haven't got them, will not have them, nor can they get them in the near future.

The last week of Vice President Adlai E. Stevenson as president of the U. S. Senate was made especially happy for that gentleman by the whole Senate presenting to him a handsome and valuable silver table service, consisting of center-piece, soup-tureen, vegetable dishes, meat platter, large pitchers, waiters, etc.

THERE is said to be progress the importation of 500,000,000 pounds of wool, to anticipate the proposed tariff on wool and form a corner on that commodity. The same will be done in other lines and trade kept denigrated for years after the enactment of the higher protective tariff. That thing of "protection" is an awful harness and robbery of the masses.

A most interesting phase of the political drift of the times in the South is the obvious tendency on the part of the leaders of the former Democratic party to add to the cheap-money article of faith the advocacy of a protective tariff on Southern products, thus effecting a radical change of front in the principles and policies of that great party. A large part of the Southern leaders on the Democratic side have never appeared to be at heart for a tariff for revenue only. In fact, they have not seemed to be Democrats at heart at all, but joined with the party only on account of the prejudices of the Civil War issues and on account of the negro question.

Messrs. Armitage have returned to their home in Frenchburg, after a protracted visit to relatives in town.

Mrs. Winn Riley and Miss Kate Clark, of Morehead, visited their sister, Mrs. DeSaba, at Freestone, last week.

The water got in the Methodist Church a few inches, but no damage done; did not get in the Reform Church.

Mr. Durham, who has been under medical treatment at Morehead, is now able to return home and will reopen his school Monday.

Mrs. Clayton, of Salt Lick, and Miss McGlosson, of Olympia, have returned home, after a pleasant visit with Mrs. Chas. Clayton.

Quite a little party of young people were up from Olympia Saturday, viewing the ruins of the flood, "Mermaid Prince" (as well as the "Dean"), of that vicinity.

W. D. Spock, of Pennsylvania, is in town this week, and it is said he will locate here as partner with Mr. Montague in the lumber business.

Mr. Spock was formerly a resident of this place, and his many friends would welcome his return to our midst.

The high water caused lots of fun and lots of work, too; did considerable damage in washing away fences, sidewalks and so on. The men and boys enjoyed it thoroughly—boat-riding, "ducking" and so on. The best "ducking" we witnessed was that of Mr. Prentice and Will Park, but, of course, the water did not get over Mr. Prentice's head.

HAZEL.

Grange City.

I. R. Darnell was in the bend of Licking three days last week on official business.

Ellie, little daughter of S. T. Jones, came very near getting seriously burned last Saturday by her clothes catching fire from the grate.

I. R. Darnell weighed his shoats sold to J. N. Swetnam Monday. They averaged 117 lbs., and sold at 3¢. The latter bought some more Monday at 3½¢ here.

Miss Lizzie Peed, while visiting here Christmas, lost between Mason Garner's and the postoffice a pair of white pillow-cases, one of them completed and the other begun, with material to finish. She kindly requests whoever found them to leave them with Jess H. Anderson at Odessa.

What's the matter? Robust young men that hired as farm hands for $15 to $16 per month two years ago in this neighborhood are now hiring for $8 and $10 per month, and only a part getting employment at that. Their ability and qualifications are just the same. The farmer has bright yellow prospects just ahead in the near future. It can't be that old confidence is sick, for she is restored to robust health. I wonder what is the matter?

(Delayed by high water.)

Well, the primary will come off next Saturday, and some of the candidates will not feel like stirring Sunday. We don't know what the result will be, but we hope our man will come out all right, and we believe he will. So, hurrah for my man. We will tell you who he is next week.

A serial was given at Ollie Dailley's Wednesday night. All present enjoyed themselves tripping the light fantastic toe.

Elder D. G. Combs and family, of Ezel, passed through this part last week, en route to Morehead, where they will make their home. They will take charge of the College Dormitory at that place.

The high water played havoc with Captain Eaton's railroad, washing out several trestles and undermining in several places. It will probably be a month before the train can run through from Yale to Salt Lick. This will give employment to several more men for some days.

Next to the highest tide we ever had in Licking river occurred last week, according to old men's statements. As the old saying is, "it nearly swept everything from hill to hill," doing great damage to fencing, washing off all fodder and feed-stuff in the valleys. It will take the farmers some time to get a porter and leaving them to find the way themselves. You would even hail it as a personal triumph if some of your luggage would get lost. But it never does. Sometimes it arrives late, but it always arrives.
